

LTTA in Paris (France)

:: DAY 1

On December 6 and 8, 2023, the Learning Teaching Training Activities (LTTA) of the Creative Mindset project was held in Paris (France). During 3 days, the participants were given the chance to voice their thoughts and debate the progress that has been made on the project.

On the first day, participants met at Sample, a cultural third-place located on the outskirts of Paris and home to numerous local associations. The first day was devoted to the e-learning platform and how to use it.

Participants had the opportunity to preview the website and the various results available on the platform. A demonstration of Globalnet was given to teach participants how to use the platform.

:: DAY 2

During the second day, the focus was on creative endeavors. The place where the participants gathered was the Atelier des Lumières, which is a digital art facility. There are exhibitions at L'Atelier des Lumières that are referred to as "immersive" exhibitions. These exhibitions allow viewers to explore the space and find thousands of digital pictures of works of art that are shown against a sound environment that is connected to the projected paintings. The result is that one feels as though they are completely submerged in the paintings. Therefore, in order to acquire new creative approaches and to have a better understanding of the concept of creativity, which is the central concept of this project, the participants immersed themselves in the works of the well-known painter Chagall.

:: DAY 3

On the last day, that focus was made on teaching and learning strategies that are inclusive and accessible to all individuals, both online and in person. The attendees put their knowledge to the test by participating in a workshop that focused on the topic of prejudice, specifically how to counteract it in the classroom. We finished the LTTA with planning the follow-up for each partner needed to develop at the local level and each participant evaluate the meeting.

Next meeting will be in Poland, in May 2024. See you in Poznan ;)

PROJECTCREATIVEMINDSET.COM